Squares

How would you describe what you see? what I see is a pattern that looks like it goes on forever what will the next square look like? the next two squares will look like 4 red rectangles in the center with 4 yellow rectangles on the outside what do you notice & wonder?

I noticed the pattern in white, white red, red green, green pink. I wonder if this can go farther as a pattern could you describe the pattern in a general way? if I would describe this pattern in a general way I would say that is is a (short) & simple pattern that is fascinating in some ways the next square will have 5 yellow rectangles on the ~~side~~ inside and 4 green rectangles on the outside. then the cycle is broken.
